

The Price of Prisons | New Jersey

WHAT INCARCERATION COSTS TAXPAYERS

FACT SHEET • JANUARY 2012

Key Findings

$1.2 billion
NJDOC prison budget

$1.4 billion
Total state cost of prisons

$54,865
Average annual cost per inmate

IN FISCAL YEAR 2010, the New Jersey Department of Corrections (NJDOC) had almost $1.2 billion in prison expenditures. However, the state also had $255.5 million in prison-related costs outside the department's budget. The total cost of New Jersey's prisons—to incarcerate an average daily population of 25,822—was therefore $1.4 billion, of which 18 percent were costs outside the corrections budget.

Determining the total cost of state prisons requires accounting for expenditures in all areas of government that support the prison system—not just those within the corrections budget. The additional costs to taxpayers can include expenses that are centralized for administrative purposes (such as employee benefits and capital costs) and services for inmates funded through other agencies. Prison costs also include the cost of underfunded contributions to corrections employees' pensions and retiree health care plans; states must pay the remainder of those contributions in the future.

Prison costs outside the NJDOC's budget included the following:

Taxpayer Costs (dollars in millions)
NJDOC prison budget	$1,161.3
Other state costs
Employee benefits	$60.7
Pension contributions	$0
Underfunded pensions	NE
Retiree health care contributions	$52.1
Underfunded retiree health care	$131.2
Capital costs	$2.2
Judgments and legal claims	$0.2
Statewide administrative costs	$9.0
Subtotal: Other state costs	$255.5
TOTAL TAXPAYER COST	$1,416.7

- > EMPLOYEE BENEFITS. In 2010, the state of New Jersey made a payment of $60.7 million on behalf of NJDOC for the employer's share of social security taxes, unemployment insurance, and temporary disability insurance.
- > RETIREE HEALTH CARE CONTRIBUTIONS. The state paid $52.1 million from the interdepartmental account for corrections employees in 2010.
- > UNDERFUNDED RETIREE HEALTH CARE CONTRIBUTIONS. In 2010, the state contributed 28.4 percent of the annual amount required to fully fund retiree health care benefits in the long run. The state will need to pay the remaining $131.2 million, plus interest, to provide for the retiree health care benefits for corrections employees that are scheduled under current law.
- > CAPITAL COSTS. In 2010, the state of New Jersey paid $2.2 million for pay-as-you-go capital costs for the NJDOC.
- > PENSION CONTRIBUTIONS. NJDOC reported that the state did not make a pension contribution in 2010. Vera could not obtain the necessary financial data to determine the cost of the unfunded pension contribution for corrections staff. Therefore, these costs are not included in this fact sheet and the state's total prison cost calculated for this report is a conservative estimate.

Source: Vera Institute of Justice, True Cost of Prisons survey. See "Methodology" for more details. Taxpayer costs include expenses funded by state and federal revenue. Vera could not obtain information about all prison costs outside the state's corrections budget. These costs were not estimated and appear as NE. Apparent discrepancies between subtotals and totals are the result of rounding.

> About this project

State corrections departments pay most of the cost of prisons. However, other state government agencies may take on some of the costs, such as capital expenditures and inmate hospital care. Prison costs also include the costs of underfunded contributions to state employees' pensions and retiree health care, because some of these benefits are for corrections personnel. States must pay the remainder of these contributions in the future. Specific prison costs outside the corrections budget vary from state to state. Thus, the cost of incarceration states report is often understated—and in different ways by each state.

In August 2011, the Vera Institute of Justice distributed a survey to the department of corrections in every state to collect the information necessary to calculate the total cost of prisons in fiscal year 2010. Corrections departments from 40 states completed and returned the survey, which asked respondents to provide prison expenditures by the department of corrections and associated costs other departments paid. Vera researchers then used publicly available documents to collect information regarding pension and retiree health care funding to estimate the cost of underfunded contributions to those benefits.

The full report, The Price of Prisons: What Incarceration Costs Taxpayers, provides data for 40 states and a full description of the methodology. Download the report at vera.org/priceofprisons.

METHODOLOGY

The Vera Institute of Justice conducted a survey to collect data on spending by corrections departments and other state agencies. For the survey, prisons are defined as residential facilities that hold sentenced adult offenders in state custody. Prison costs include expenses for the operation of state-run prisons, privately run prisons, and any payments made to local jails and to other states for housing state-sentenced inmates. Taxpayer costs include expenses funded by state and federal revenue. Vera excluded from this analysis any corrections department expenses that do not directly relate to prison operations, such as community corrections or juvenile justice.

Vera obtained information regarding the underfunding of pensions and retiree health care through Consolidated Annual Financial Reports for fiscal year 2010. Prison-related administrative costs were determined per each state's most recent publicly available Statewide Cost Allocation Plan (SWCAP).
